6th Sunday after the Holy Cross

Readings: Gal 6:1-10 and Mt 25:14-30

In this parable Jesus tells us that there can be no religion without adventure, and that God can find no use for the shut mind. But there is much more in this parable than that.

It tells us that God gives men differing gifts. One man received five talents, another two, and another one. It is not a man's talent which matters; what matters is how he uses it. God never demands from a man abilities which he has not got; but God does demand from a man that he should use to the full the abilities which he does possess. Men are not equal in talent; but men can be equal in effort. The parable tells us that whatever talent we have, little be it or great, we must lay it at the service of God.

It tells us that the reward of work well done is still more work to do. The two servants who had done well are not told to lean back and to rest on their oars, because they have done well. They are given greater tasks, and greater responsibilities in the work of the master. The reward of work is not rest, but more work.

It tells us that the man who is punished is the man who will not try. The man with the one talent did not lose his talent; he simply did nothing with it. Even if he had adventured with it and lost it, it would have been better than to do nothing with it at all. It is always a temptation for the one talent man to say: "I have so small a talent, and I can do so little with it, that it is not worth while to try, for all the contribution that I can make." But the condemnation is for the man who, having even one talent, will not try to use it, and who will not risk it for the common good.

A Time to Laugh (328)

--Teacher: "Sam, you talk a lot!"

Sam: "It's a family tradition."

Teacher: "What do you mean?"

Sam: "Sir, my grandpa was a street hawker, my father is a teacher."

Teacher: "What about your mother?"

Sam: "She's a woman."

--Tom: "How should I convey the news to my father that I've failed?"

David: "You just send a telegram: Result declared, past year's performance repeated."

--Teacher: "Now, children, if I saw a man beating a donkey and stopped him, what virtue would I be showing?"

Student: "Brotherly love."

--Teacher: "Now, Sam, tell me frankly do you say prayers before eating?"

Sam: "No sir, I don't have to, my mom is a good cook."

--Patient: "What are the chances of my recovering doctor?"

Doctor: "One hundred percent. Medical records show that nine out of ten people die of the disease you have. Yours is the tenth case I've treated. The others all died."

--Teacher: "Can anybody give an example of COINCIDENCE?"

One Student: "Sir, my Mother and Father got married on the same day and at the same time."

Old Age

Thought I'd let my doctor check me, 'Cause I didn't feel quite right ...'

All those aches and pains annoyed me, and I couldn't sleep at night.

He could find no real disorder, but he wouldn't let it rest.

What with Medicare and Blue Cross, we would do a couple tests.

To the hospital he sent me, though I didn't feel that bad.

He arranged for them to give me, every test that could be had.

I was fluoroscoped and cystoscoped, my aging frame displayed.

Stripped, on an ice cold table, while my gizzards were x-rayed.

I was checked for worms and parasites, for fungus and the crud,

While they pierced me with long needles, taking samples of my blood.

Doctors came to check me over, probed and pushed and poked around,

And to make sure I was living, they then wired me for sound.

They have finally concluded, their results have filled a page.

What I have will someday kill me; my affliction is OLD AGE.
