Sunday of the Priests

Readings: 1Tim 4:6-16 and Lk 12: 42-48

A priest celebrating his 50th Anniversary to the priesthood wrote:

I could enumerate all the people to whom I am so greatly indebted and all the things for which I am grateful. But you did not come to hear a litany of platitudes, however so deserved.

I first ministered in After six happy years, I enjoyed another six fulfilling years Then, I began a love affair of the heart with Charleston, our capital city, that has endured through 11 years at St. Agnes and 27 years, thus far, at Sacred Heart.

By virtue of our baptism, we all share the priesthood. Sacred Scripture and Catholic theology are clear: "You are a chosen race, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, God's own people," and Catholic liturgy acknowledges this when the deacon will incense you along with the bishop and the ordained priests. The ordained priest is the servant of God and you, his people. Ordination does not separate us from you. We teach and firmly believe that the Catholic priest is chosen by the Church from among you and is anointed to praise and glorify God and intercede with God on your behalf. We do this by daily prayer and primarily and uniquely by offering the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass.

Ordination is a summons to service and under God; it is you we are ordained to serve. Not always easy because you are who you are and we are who we are. And we priests are not fabricated in the seminary. We are extroverts and introverts, thinkers and doers, spontaneous and deliberate. We share the faults of sinful humans and can be as small as the next man. We get discouraged when we do not live up to our own ideals and your expectations. We get frustrated when our plans do not materialize. We are saddened when our homilies leave you cold; we light up like a Christmas tree when we delight you.

We get lonely for friendship, for love and we find aging difficult to enjoy alone. While we feel a special relationship with God, we know, far better than you can ever appreciate, that we are men with feet of clay. As we have been painfully reminded in recent years, we too, are inherently flawed because of sin.

Counselors of priests can testify better than most, that the priest is not immune to spiritual illnesses and psychological problems, is not impervious to human struggles and destructive behaviors.

We, on our part, rely completely on the special grace God gives us to serve you, the people of God. We have been strengthened, too, by our faith that Jesus Christ, the eternal Son of God, took on human flesh and became divinely human. And as it was the humanity of Jesus that attracted people to Him, so it is with priests. You identify with our vulnerable humanity as servant-priests.

Dear people of God, you know that priests are not beyond human problems, but don't presume, as some do, that the celibate, male, Catholic priest is defective and abnormal, or sad and dejected. Take to heart the words of Pope John Paul II spoken to the bishops of Boston and Hartford (Conn.): "In a particular way I would ask you to be strongly supportive of your brother priests, many of whom have suffered deeply because of the much-publicized failings of some of the Church's ministers. I would ask you also to convey my personal gratitude for the generous and selfless service which marks the lives of so many American priests, as well as my deep appreciation of their daily efforts to be models of holiness and pastoral charity in the Christian communities entrusted to their care. In a very real way, the renewal of the Church is linked to the renewal of the priesthood."

Certainly, you believe and expect priests to have a unique relationship with God. Otherwise, why else do you ask us day after day, "Father, please pray for me"? Know for sure, this daily prayer is one of the most important things we do, day after day. In return, we rejoice that you treat us as members of your extended families, symbols of the compassionate God you want in your life. So we continue to reach out to all of you ... Would we choose the priesthood again? Speaking, I know, for us in the sanctuary, I say, "Yes, definitely, yes." The priesthood for us has been like a treasure buried in a field. We found it, excitedly sold all we had and bought that field. We have received so much more by exchanging our small human sacrifice for a life of by that we had never dare hope for. We have been blessed by God and by you. I gratefully say, "thank you" and humbly say, "God bless you." --Mgrs. Edward Sadie, Charleston, WV July 2007

Masses for Our Faithful Departed (Saturday, February 3, thru Friday, February 9)

Before Great Lent, the church urges parishioners to remember their parents and beloved ones in the offering of the Mass which is the pleasing to God; it is the offering of love of the Son of God on the Cross.

Prayer For Departed Loved Ones

O Almighty God, Who by the love which You have for men, have willed to take our humanity, to live a life of hard work, to suffer a most cruel Passion, and finally to die on the Cross, I beseech You, by the infinite merits purchased for us with Your precious Blood, look mercifully on the suffering which is endured by the holy souls in Purgatory. Accept, O merciful God, the prayers which I offer for them, and call them to the glory of heaven. I recommend to You the souls of my relatives, friends and benefactors, and in a special manner of those to whom I may have been an occasion of sin by my bad example.

Most Holy Virgin, Mother of Mercy, Comforter of the Afflicted, intercede for those souls, that, by your powerful intercession, they may be admitted to enjoy that kingdom which is prepared for them. Amen.

A Time to Laugh (342)

Moses And The Lord

"Excuse me, Sir." "Is that you again, Moses?" "I'm afraid it is, Sir."

"What is it this time, Moses; more computer problems?"

"How did you guess?" "I don't have to guess, Moses. Remember?"

"Oh, yes; I forgot." "Tell me what you want, Moses." "But you already know, Sir. Remember?" "Moses!"

"Sorry, Sir."

"Well, go ahead, Moses; spit it out." "Well, I have a question, Sir.

You know those ten 'things' you sent me via e-mail?"

"You mean the Ten Commandments, Moses?" "That's it.

I was wondering if they are important." "What do you mean 'if they are important,' Moses? Of course, they are important. Otherwise, I would not have sent them to you."

"Well, sorry, Sir, but I lost them. I could say the dog ate them; but, of course, you would see right through that."

"What do you mean you 'lost them'? Are you trying to tell me you didn't save them, Moses?" "No, Sir; I forgot." "You should always save, Moses." "Yes, I know. You told me that before. I was going to save them, but I forgot. I did forward them to some people before I lost them though." "And did you hear back from any of them?" "You already know I did. There was the one guy who said he never uses 'shalt not.' May he change the words a little bit?" "Yes, Moses, as long as he does not change the meaning." "And what about the guy who thought your stance was a little harsh, and recommended calling them the 'Ten Suggestions,' or letting people pick one or two to try for a while?" "Moses, I will act as if I did not hear that." "I think that means 'no.' Well, what about the guy who said I was scamming him?" "I think the term is 'spamming,' Moses." "Oh, yes. I e-mailed him back and told him I don't even eat that stuff, and I have no idea how you can send it to someone through a computer." "And what did he say?" "You know what he said. He used Your name in vain. You don't think he might have sent me one of those -- err -- plagues, and that's the reason I lost those ten 'things', do you?"

"They are not plagues; they are called 'viruses,' Moses." "Whatever! This computer stuff is just too much for me. Can we go back to those stone tablets? It was hard on my back taking them out and reading them each day, but at least I never lost them." "We will do it the new way, Moses; using computers!!!" "I was afraid you would say that, Sir." "Moses, what did I tell you to do if you messed up?" "You told me to hold up this rat and point it toward the computer."

"It's a mouse, Moses, not a rat. Mouse! Mouse! And did you do that?"

"No, I decided to try calling technical support first. After all, who knows more about this stuff than you? And I really like your hours. By the way, Sir, did Noah have two of these mice on the ark?" "No, Moses." "One other thing. Why did you not name them 'frogs' instead of 'mice,' because did you not tell me the thing they sit on is a pad?" "I did not name them, Moses. Man did, and you can call yours a frog if you want to." "Oh, that explains it. I bet some woman told Adam to call it a mouse. After all, was it not a woman who named one of the computers 'Apple'?" "Say good night, Moses." "Wait a minute, Sir. I am pointing the mouse, and it seems to be working. Yes, a couple of the ten 'things' have come back." "Which ones are they, Moses?" "Let me see. 'Thou shalt not steal from any grave an image' and 'Thou shalt not uncover Thy neighbor's wife.'"

"Turn the computer off, Moses. I'm sending you another set of stone tablets."

Love

A Sunday school teacher told her children she was going to write their names on the blackboard. After each name she would write the one thing that particular child was the most grateful for. One little boy was thinking hard when his name went on the board. When he was asked what should go after his name, he finally said: "Mother." So that's what the teacher wrote. She was starting to write the next name when the boy began to wave his hand frantically. "Yes?" said the teacher. "Please cancel Mother and write dog." said the little boy.
