Sunday of the Holy Trinity

Readings: Rom 11:25-36 and Mt 28:16-20

Patriarch: Beloved brother, profess the faith that you signed with your own hand.

The Bishop-elect: I, (N), called by the grace of God and by the choice of the Syriac Antiochene Maronite Bishops' Synod from the Order of Priesthood to the Order of Bishop believe firmly in God the Holy Trinity: Father, Son, and Holy Spirit.

I believe in God the Father, who has no beginning or end. He created the universe by his Word and sustains it by his Might.

I believe in God the Son, the second Person of the Holy Trinity, begotten of the Father from all eternity and was not made; He took flesh by the power of the Holy Spirit from the Virgin Mary and became man, like us in all things but sin. He guided us by the light of his gospel and redeemed us by his cross on which he shed his blood for us in redemption of our sins. He rose from the dead and poured forth for us the fountain of eternal life through the Divine Mysteries of his Church, especially: the Mystery of Baptism that enables us to become the adopted children of God; the holy Myron (Chrism), by which the Holy Spirit empowers us to proclaim our Christian faith; and the Mystery of the Eucharist, our food on our journey toward him who is seated at the right hand of his Father as our intercessor in heaven.

I believe in the Holy Spirit, the third Person of the Holy Trinity, the giver of life. He proceeds from the Father and the Son and has spoken through the prophets and apostles.

I acknowledge the first seven Ecumenical Councils:

First Council of Nicea (325), which confirmed that the Son is of the same essence as the Father;

First Council of Constantinople (381), which confirmed that the Holy Spirit is of the same essence as the Father and the Son;

Ephesus (431), which confirmed that the Son is both true God and true Man and that the Virgin Mary is the Mother of God;

Chalcedon (451), which confirmed that in the Son there is one Person with two perfect natures, one divine and the other human;

Second Council of Constantinople (537), which clearly reaffirmed the teachings of the previous Ecumenical Councils;

Third Council of Constantinople (681), which confirmed that there are two wills in the Son, one divine and the other human, both in one Person; and Second Council of Nicea (787), which established the veneration of the cross and icons of the Blessed Virgin Mary and the saints.

And I acknowledge the other Ecumenical Councils convened subsequently by the holy, catholic, and apostolic Church.

I acknowledge the Sacred Scriptures revealed in the Old and New Testaments.

I profess that the Lord Jesus Christ designated Peter as his successor and the head of his Church; and that Peter placed his See in Antioch first then moved it to Rome, where he was martyred for the love of Christ.

I acknowledge the successors of Peter, the great popes who presided over the Church and occupied the See of Rome. I acknowledge especially His Holiness Pope of Rome. May God confirm his leadership.

I also acknowledge that the Maronite Patriarchs succeeded consecutively to the Antiochene See of Peter down to our current Patriarch. May God assist him and grant him many years of leadership over us.

I pledge before God, before the altar and the Holy Mysteries, before the angels and saints, and before this community here present, to submit to them and to obey them and their successors with a filial obedience and to act according to their advice and their fatherly guidance.

I also pledge to endeavor, by the grace of God, to make every effort in directing the Eparchy entrusted to me, for the sanctification of souls, clergy and laity and especially the priests, my collaborators in my episcopal mission.

This is my profession; I proclaim it freely; I signed it by my own hand. May God, who is my Witness, help me to be committed to it.

(He presents this signed proclamation of faith to the Patriarch, soliciting his blessing.)

Story

In many parts of Asia, walking to church is dangerous. Believers must consider the risk and take precautions to make it back home alive. This is K.P. Yohannan with Breaking News from Asia.

Pastor Suresh was walking home from church last August. As he passed through a certain village, a group of fanatic anti-Christians stood in his path. They slapped him across the face and warned him. "You must stop your Christian activities. If you refuse, we will throw a bomb into the church next Sunday." That same day, two other missionaries were beaten and sent to the hospital. Through the prayers of God's people, the next Sunday passed without incident. The police stood by and the anti-Christians did not even show up to bother the believers.

Persecution on Suresh's mission field is increasing. On Sundays, walking through the village in nice clothes can mark a person as a Christian. So many believers leave for church wearing work clothes, carrying their church clothes in a bag. And for the walk home, they change back into their work clothes. Let us join with these brave believers in praying for their persecutors. May each one find life in our Lord Jesus Christ.

A Time to Laugh (414)

Bible

Sin will keep you from this Book.

This Book will keep you from sin. (Dwight Moody)

Johnny: Mother's Bible must be more interesting than yours.

Father: Why do you say that?

Johnny: She reads hers more than you read yours.

"Why do you keep reading your Bible all day long?" a youngster asked his grandfather.

"Well," he explained, "you might say I am cramming for my final examinations."

Bingo

I've always been fascinated by churches that run bingo games. They ought to have a sign that says, "Come Let Us Prey."

Blindness

During church services an attractive young widow leaned too far over the balcony and fell, but her dress caught on a chandelier and held her suspended in midair. The minister, of course, immediately noticed the woman's predicament and called out to his congregation, "The first person who looks up is in danger of being punished with blindness."

One old fellow in the congregation whispered to the man next to him, "I think I'll risk one eye."

Boaz

Question: Why did those who worked for Boaz think he was a mean boss?

Answer: He became Ruthless when his wife went on vacation.

Bookie

Pastor: How do you like your job as church librarian?

Librarian: It's all right as long as people call me a librarian and not a bookie.

Excuses

One of my third-graders came to school sobbing. "Jonathan's upset because he couldn't complete his math homework," explained his mother, holding his hand. "Why?" I asked. "Unfortunately," she said, "Our computer doesn't have Roman numerals."
