1st Sunday of the Holy Cross

Readings: 2Tim 2:1-10 and Mk 10:35-45

Scarcely has Jesus, for the third time, recalled the destiny that awaits him in Jerusalem, than the disciples' ambition gets the better of their momentary fear. After Peter's confession at Caesarea and the dispute along the road as to which of them was the greatest, it is easy to imagine the ambition of the sons of Zebedee to secure for themselves two good places in the messianic kingdom approaching at the end of time in the race for favored positions, they know what they want, and so do the other disciples, in spite of their virtuous indignation.

But no, they do not know, and Jesus reveals it to them. It is about another ministry that he speaks, correcting in passing their popular conception of merit, according to which man acquires rights over God. The true disciple can aspire to only one thing: to share the passion of his master. As for the reward, it eludes every possible claim. God is free to do what he likes with his gifts. The Christian likewise will have his share in the condition of servant which was that of Jesus: that is to say, he will participate in the life and death of Jesus for others'. For true Christian greatness consists in serving, and not in playing the master. Such are the bases of government of a Church which is built up by the work of ministry. Ministry after the example of the Son of God who, like a slave, washes the feet of his disciples, and offers for the multitudes the Suffering Servant's sacrifice of atonement.

Too often, in the course of history, the government of the Church has been seen as power or domination. This was a failure to relate her mission to the mission of Christ dead and risen. According to the gospel, the way of ruling is to serve: our king himself has shown that to us. 'Princes of the Church', if they exist, ought to have no other ambition.

Spirituality:

Bishop Fulton SHEEN wrote: “When I am asked what the Church means to me, I answer that it is the Temple of Life in which I am a living stone; it is the Tree of Eternal Fruit of which I am a branch; it is the Mystical Body of Christ on earth of which I am a member. The Church is, therefore, more to me than I am to myself; her life is more abundant than mine, for I live by union with her. She could live without me, for I am only a cell in her body; but I could not normally live without her. I live only as a part of her, as my arm lives only as a part of my body. So absorbing does she become that her thoughts are my thoughts; her loves are my loves; her ideals are my ideals. I consider sharing her life to be the greatest gift God has ever given to me, as I should consider losing her life the greatest evil that could befall me.

(...) Christ’s Mystical Body is like a beautiful garden, formed by the blossoming of individual flowers each in its own beauty, but in its varied beauty blending into one harmonious, rapturous delight. Each flower of that garden has its own beauty revealed as in no other flower, yet each flower grows in beauty by contrast and by blending with the other flowers all rooted in a common soil and lighted by a common sun.

So it is in the mystical life, where Christ dwells in his Church, revealing himself anew in each individual soul, and never in two wholly alike, here manifesting himself in a Peter, there in a Paul, here in a Martha, there in a Mary, here in a lover of his infancy, there in a lover of his Cross, here in a rose with thorns, there in a flower without them, and yet all growing more beautiful by their fellowship with other saintly flowers because all rooted in the same Christ-life and all lighted by the same Christ-truth.”

Bishop Fulton Sheen, In the Fullness of Time, p. 33-36

Wisdom

NAIL IN THE FENCE

There once was a little boy who had a bad temper. His Father gave him a bag of nails and told him that every time he lost his temper, he must hammer a nail into the back of the fence. The first day the boy had driven 37 nails into the fence. Over the next few weeks, as he learned to control his anger, the number of nails hammered daily gradually dwindled down. He discovered it was easier to hold his temper than to drive those nails into the fence.

Finally the day came when the boy didn't lose his temper at all. He told his father about it and the father suggested that the boy now pull out one nail for each day that he was able to hold his temper.

The days passed and the young boy was finally able to tell his father that all the nails were gone. The father took his son by the hand and led him to the fence. He said, "You have done well, my son, but look at the holes in the fence. The fence will never be the same. When you say things in anger, they leave a scar just like this one. You can put a knife in a man and draw it out.

It won't matter how many times you say I'm sorry, the wound is still there. " A verbal wound is as bad as a physical one. Please forgive me if I have ever left a hole.

Story: God Is Helpful

A man is in his house. It is a beautiful house with a view of a nearby river. One day, the river began to rise ... and rise.., and rise, until it surrounded, and finally filled, his house. To keep from drowning he climbed upon his roof and began to pray, "Oh God, save me. Do not let me drown."

Shortly afterwards a rowboat came by. The gentleman rowing offered to give the guy a ride but was told, "No, no, God is going to save me." Alone, the gentleman and his boat rowed away. Later a helicopter flew overhead. The pilot dropped a rope and pleaded with the guy to climb up, but the guy said, "No, no, God is going to save me." The river continued to rise, and the guy drowned.

When he arrived in heaven he asked God, "Why didn't you save me?" God replied, "I tried to, twice."

The point of this story is that sometimes we limit God's help by telling Him how to help us and how to console us. It is arrogant to say to the Lord, "Yes, I will allow you to console me, in this way, through this person, but not those people."

That is not the way to receive. Rather we should say, "Lord, I need your help. Please help me in the best way You can, in the way You know is best for me." Whatever it is we need, we can offer it up to God and let Him work it out for us; let Him be our consolation, our source of hope; let Him give us strength and courage.

If we do not allow anyone, not even Jesus, to console us, then we feel hopeless. We give up and our hope leaves us. When that happens we need to go to Jesus, in His Blessed Sacrament, and tell Him we feel hopeless. It is not news to Him, He already knows how we feel, yet for some reason we do not tell Him! If we go to Him and say, "God, I am hopeless. This situation is hopeless." then we free ourselves because we allow God to carry the burden. Jesus said to us, "My yoke is easy and My burden light." (Mt 11: 30). That is not a lie. If we are carrying with us something that seems too heavy, too burdensome, then we can be sure we are carrying something God does not want us to carry.

A Time to Laugh (470)

-- Just before the funeral services, the undertaker came up to the very elderly widow and asked, "How old was your husband?" "98," she replied. "Two years older than me." "So you're 96," the undertaker commented. She responded, "Hardly worth going home, is it?"

--Reporters interviewing a 104-year-old woman: "And what do you think is the best thing about being 104?" the reporter asked. She simply replied, "No peer pressure."

--The nice thing about being senile is you can hide your own Easter eggs.

--I've sure gotten old! I've had two bypass surgeries, a hip replacement, new knees, fought prostate cancer and diabetes. I'm half blind, can't hear anything quieter than a jet engine, take 40 different medications that make me dizzy, winded, and subject to blackouts. Have bouts with dementia. Have poor circulation; hardly feel my hands and feet anymore. Can't remember if I'm 85 or 92. Have lost all my friends. But, thank God, I still have my driver's license.

--I feel like my body has gotten totally out of shape, so I got my doctor's permission to join a fitness club and start exercising. I decided to take an aerobics class for seniors. I bent, twisted, gyrated, jumped up and down, and perspired for an hour. But, by the time I got my leotards on, the class was over.

--An elderly woman decided to prepare her will and told her preacher she had two final requests. First, she wanted to be cremated, and second, she wanted her ashes scattered over Wal-Mart. "Wal-Mart?" the preacher exclaimed. "Why Wal-Mart?" "Then I'll be sure my daughters visit me seven days a week "

--My memory is not as sharp as it used to be. Also, my memory is not as sharp as it used to be.

--Know how to prevent sagging? Just eat till the wrinkles fill out.

--It's scary when you start making the same noises as your coffeemaker.

--These days about half the stuff in my shopping cart says, "For fast relief"

THE SENILITY PRAYER : Grant me the senility to forget the people I never liked anyway, the good fortune to run into the ones I do, and the eyesight to tell the difference.

Question: What is the difference between Mother & Wife?

Answer: One woman brings you into this world crying, and the other ensures you continue to do so.

Wife: Do you want dinner?

Husband: Sure, what are my choices?

Wife: Yes and no.
