Sunday of the Leper

Readings: Rom 6:12-23 and Mk 1:35-43

All of us no doubt have told ourselves on more than one occasion that we were busy to pray. We are speaking about set, formal periods of prayer. We are not speaking about prayer in action, or that prayerful attitude which should permeate our daily activity. Such prayer in action allows us to bring a deeper Christian awareness to what we are doing and why we are doing it.

We cannot tell ourselves that we are busier than Jesus was, that we have more important work to accomplish than He did. Yet, as the above Scripture passage reminds us, Jesus set aside special time for prayer. Many, many holy Christian men and women from all states of life have likewise always found the time to pray. Moreover, they were more effective in their work precisely because they did pray.

Prayer serves various purposes. One of its functions is to mold us to become more effective workers in the Father's vineyard. Prayer helps us to control worry and anxiety. Worry and anxiety obviously can make us less efficient in our work. We cannot expect prayer to remove all anxiety from life. But prayer has a significant contribution to offer in making us Christians who are basically permeated with the peace of Christ. If we are persons of prayer, we grow in the awareness of what it means to be loved by Jesus, and, consequently, are in a position to control worry and anxiety. Prayer also aids us in work by giving the motivation to do the right thing at the right time. Sometimes we can fail to do the work precisely because we are not properly motivated. Prayer can also aid in making our work of a higher Christian quality; prayer can help permeate our work with a deeper faith, hope, and love.

These are some of the ways prayer assists us to go about our work more effectively. When we pause to analyze the situation, then, we have to admit that we really are not too busy to pray.

Spirituality: Original Sin and Redemption

Out from the great white throne of light, there comes an angel of light, down past the plains of Esdralon to the little village of Nazareth to a village maid called Mary. Since a woman struck the first discordant note, so a woman would be given the chance to right it. This woman herself was free from the stain of the original sin through the anticipated merits of the Son she was later to bear. Fitting it was that He, who is Innocence itself, should come through portals of flesh not polluted with its common sin. This privilege of Mary has been called the Immaculate Conception. Since a fallen angel tempted the first woman to rebel, God now consults through an unfallen angel, Gabriel, with the new Eve, Mary, and asks, "Will you give me a man? Will you give me freely a new note out of humanity with which I can write a new symphony?" This new man must be a man; otherwise God would not be acting in the name of humanity. But he must also be outside the current of infection to which all humans are subject. Being born of a woman, He will be human; being born of a Virgin, He will be sinless. The Virgin was asked if she would consent to be a Mother. Since there can be no birth without love, in the case of the Blessed Virgin Mary, the power of the Most High, the Spirit of Love, overshadowed her, and He who was born of her is the Son of God, the Son of man, and His name is Jesus, because He saved the world from its sins.

*Bishop Fulton Sheen, Peace of Soul, pp.39-40.(To be continued)*Wisdom: Friends

Many people will walk in and out of your life.
 But only true friends will leave footprints in your heart.
 To handle yourself, use your head; to handle others, use your heart.
 Anger is only one letter short of danger.
 If someone betrays you once, it is his fault;
 If he betrays you twice, it is your fault.
 Great minds discuss ideas;
 Average minds discuss events;
 Small minds discuss people.
 He, who loses money, loses much;
 He, who loses a friend, loses much more;
 He, who loses faith, loses all.
 Learn from the mistakes of others.
 You can't live long enough to make them all yourself.

Story

Young King Alan was ambushed and imprisoned by the monarch of a neighboring kingdom. The monarch could have killed him, but was moved by Alan's youth and ideals. So, the monarch offered him his freedom, as long as he could answer a very difficult question. Alan would have a year to figure out the answer and, if after a year, he still had no answer, he would be put to death. The question? What do women really want? Such a question would perplex even the most knowledgeable man, and to young Alan, it seemed an impossible query. But, since it was better than death, he accepted the monarch's proposition to have an answer by year's end. He returned to his kingdom and began to poll everyone: the princess, the priests, the wise men and even the court jester. He spoke with everyone, but no one could give him a satisfactory answer. Many people advised him to consult the old witch, for only she would have the answer. But the price would be high; as the witch was famous throughout the kingdom for the exorbitant prices she charged. The last day of the year arrived and Alan had no choice but to talk to the witch. She agreed to answer the question, but he would have to agree to her price first. The old witch wanted to marry Alan's closest friend! Young Alan was horrified. She was hunchbacked and hideous, had only one tooth, and smelled like sewage. He had never encountered such a repugnant creature in all his life. He refused to force his friend to marry her and endure such a terrible burden; but Alan's friend, learning of the proposal, spoke with Alan. He said nothing was too big of a sacrifice compared to Alan's life and the preservation of the friendship. Hence, a wedding was proclaimed and the witch answered Alan's question thus: What a woman really wants, she answered ... is to be in charge of her own life. Everyone in the kingdom instantly knew that the witch had uttered a great truth and that Alan's life would be spared. And so it was, the neighboring monarch granted Alan his freedom and his friend and the witch had a wonderful wedding. The honeymoon hour approached and Alan's friend, steeling himself for a horrific experience, entered the house. But, what a sight awaited him. The most beautiful woman he had ever seen was before in the living room. The astounded friend asked what had happened. The beauty replied that since he had been so kind to her when she appeared as a witch, she would henceforth, be her horrible deformed self only half the time and the beautiful maiden the other half. Which would he prefer? Beautiful during the day ... or night? The friend pondered the predicament. During the day, a beautiful woman to show off to his friends, but at night, an old witch? Or, would he prefer having a hideous witch during the day, but by night, a beautiful woman? What would YOU do?

Alan's friend said that he would allow HER to make the choice herself. Upon hearing this, she announced that she would be beautiful all the time because he had respected her enough to let her be in charge of her own life. Now ... what is the moral to this story? The moral is ... If you don't let a woman have her own way ... Things are going to get ugly!

Shoveling for a Horse

There were two rooms-one full of brand-new toys, the other full of hay and horse manure. Two children were taken into them, one a pessimist, the other an optimist. The pessimist looked at the first room and cried because all those wonderful toys would soon be broken. The optimist was in the other room shoveling. "I know there has to be a horse in here somewhere," he said.

Veal Cutlets and Pancakes

A man went into the hospital for tests, where he learned that he had several highly contagious incurable illnesses. He was quite upset and asked the doctor what he was to do. The doctor informed him there was only one way to treat him at this point-he would receive a private room and would need to eat veal cutlets and pancakes every day.

The patient liked pancakes and veal cutlets but asked, "Why do you want me to eat the same things every day? How will they help me?"

The doctor answered, "Oh, they won't really help you. They're just easy to slide under the door to your room."

Finely Tuned Body

Your body is a great deal like a finely tuned automobile: Even if you take good care of it, eventually it will break down anyway.

Smooth Cupcakes

A man was visiting his brother and sister-in-law and found his young nephew helping them bake cupcakes. The parents went into the living room and let the boy finish frosting the cupcakes by himself. When the boy finished, he brought the cupcakes into the living room and served them to his parents and his uncle.

"These cupcakes look wonderful!" his uncle exclaimed. He then took a couple more bites while looking at the other cupcakes. "And they are delicious too."

The boy's parents were still eating their first cupcake when the uncle had finished, so he took another. As he began his second cupcake, he thanked his nephew again and asked, "How did you get the icing to spread so smoothly?" His nephew answered, "I licked them."
